

FOX AND THE GRAPES

Once a fox was very hungry. He went out in search of food. At last, he reached in a garden. He saw some grapes hanging very high. He wanted to get them. So, he jumped at them. He tried again and again but failed to reach them. The grapes were there but he could not get them. At last, he gave up the attempt. He was very sad. He left the Garden, saying "The grapes are sour" I must not eat them."

Moral:

- The grapes are sour.
